WAS COMSTOCK "RAILROADED"

Alleged Grumbling at His Admission Into McPherson Post.

According to a story which came out this morning, there is much grumbling among some members of James H. McPherson Post, of which Supreme Court Justice Calvin H. De Witt is commander.

The trouble here has come from the admission of Anthony Comstock to membership. It is said that Comstock was "railroaded" into the post by some of the members.

Some of those who profess to be discontented will allow their names to be used, but the story, in brief, is told as follows:

The meeting last Saturday night, at which Comstock was elected, was called twenty minutes before the regular time. The leader of the opposition was James H. De Witt, Jr., who is a member of the post.
